WILLIAMSBURGH ITEMS

For The N. Y. Tribune. SONNET. PAREWELL TO PATHER MATHEW

JOHN SAVAGE. FAREWELL, my friend !- the world's friend, farewell

FAREWELL, my friend '—the world's friend, farewell!
May airs propitious soothe your occan way.
And Heaven to the debt of Earth repay.
Farewell! the word brings visions like a spell,
And down the cloudy future proples swell.
I see them hold their hearts upon their tongues,
Eager far sacrifice of speech—and throngs
Hold solemn homage at a festival!
And daing youth and hearty age there meet,
And maiden tears of joy bedew the shrine—
And starving Bacchus groans in his retreat
While joyful babes of happy sires entwine
A wreath for Mathew's living shade! and down
Eternity's broad path they bear his deathless crown.

By the arrival of the schooner Thomas Pearson at this port, we have received dates from Balize, Honduras, to the 14th ult.

Her Majesty's Superintendent, His Excellency P E. Wodehouse, having made a trip to Ambergris, found out that the Yucatanians merely threatened to take forcible possession of that Island without so doing. His Excellency hoisted the British flag thereon, and appointed two Magistrates while he was there, thus ratifying and confirming it as part of British Honduras. His Excellency must evidently have come to this conclusion from his own personal observation, says The Handuras Watchman, and will therefore be prepared to take most active steps in respect thereto, should any hostile demonstration be made by our neighbors. We hope for their own sakes made by our neighbors. We hope for their own sakes they will see the policy of remaining at peace with us, rather than attempt an open rupture, and force us to act in self-defense. Indeed we can scarcely think otherwise than that this report has emanated from an empty boast, rather than anything like determination, aithough we are aware that the Mexican Government are attempting to lay claim to this Island, and are at present in correspondence with the British Government on the subject.

The weather hid been very bad at Balize during August, September, and part of October. Hurricanes, severe gales, thunder and hightning and rain had occurred almost daily for several weeks.

severe gales, thunder and against and rain and oc-curred almost daily for several weeks.

A severe earthquake had also been felt, causing not a little excitement among the inhabitants. All the low lands were completely inundated. The town continued healthy, but fears were entertained that when the floods began to subside the miasma from the decomposing vegetable matter would cause stokness.

CITY ITEMS.

The week closed gloriously, weatherly speaking. Yesterday was cool, but calm and lovely, and the night was all silence and moonshine of the kind that one enjoys with an ample sense of luxury. But for the ubiquitous swirl of dust which permeates and persecutes all humanity, we might afely call November the glory of the year.

THE OPERA .- Two old favorites of the public appeared last evening again in "Lucrezia Borgia"-Benedetti and Madame Pico. The former in the same rôle which won him so high a reputation a few years since-Gennaro-and the latter in the equally popular rôle of Orsini. Benedetti's friends all took a deep interest in his reappearance, after being vocally disabled for so long a period. He sang extremely well for the first time, particularly the largetto in scene jv., and we doubt not his voice will grow still stronger and firmer as he goes on. He was very nervous and excited, as might naturally have been expected on the occasion. Madame Pico sang pleasingly her very pleasing part. The additional embellishment in the drinking song, we could not altogether subscribe to, but this may be a matter of taste. Steffanone did admirably ; but in this character, particularly the second act, we cannot forget Teresa Parodi, who has spoiled us for any other representative of Lucrezia. A better Alphonso, howev. er, than Badiali, we never heard. This seemed to be equally the opinion of the entire audience. Badiali promises, we think, to be the prime favorite (certainly as baritone) with our New-York audience. We wished frequently during the performance on this occasion, to pull the sleeve of the prompter, whose voice was almost as audible as any one of the singers and not half as harmonious.

On Monday evening "Lucia" will be given with Steffanone, and Benedetti as Edgardo. We bespeak a full house.

1 Catherine Hayes gives to-night her fourteenth and last Concert in this City, on which occasion Tripler Hall will undoubtedly be crowded to its full capacity. The First part of Programme is Sacred Music, Catherine singing "I know that my Redeemer liveth." "Searcher of Hearts," (a new hymn, words by Geo. P. Morris, music by Wallaco.) and "Angels ever bright and fair." In the Second Part, she will sing "The Happy Birding," (a new song, words by Carlos D. Stuart, music by Wallace,) and "Qui la Voce," from I Puritani. Mengis, Braham and Kyle will lend the usual assistance, the details of which will be found in the advertisement. The fact that this is the last Concert, is sufficient to indicate the necessity of early application for tickets

ROWDYSM AND MURDER .- A lad 16 years of age named Peter Eagen, who lived with his mother at No. 235 Eleventh-st, while returning from a trunk manufactory at No. 286 Second-st., where he had been engaged at work, on Tuesday evening was attacked on the corner of Avenue C and Fourth-st. by an unknown rowdy about his own age, who struck him violently in the mouth and face, knocking him down in falling he struck the back of his head upon the pavement; the rascal, after getting him down jumped upon his breast and struck him with all his force with his boots on his face and body, he then fled leaving Eagen insensible. The latter soon, how ever, partially recovered and was assisted by some boys to a drug store in the neighborhood, where resuscitating medicines were administered, and he was then taken home, where he had a violent at of vomiting and threw up large quantities of blood. He com plained of great pain in his head and breast, and remained in that condition during the night and until Thursday morning, when he felt better and went to work, but on returning home in the evening was ta-ken worse, complaining of great pain in his head and right ear. A physician was called, who applied rem-edies and the young man was put to bed, where he was found dead yesterday morning. The acting Coroner was notified to hold an inquest on the body. It is said that no provocation whatever was given by the deceased to warrant the violence inflicted or him, and he is represented by his employer to have been a young man of a quiet and peaceable disposition. The police of the Eleventh Ward are in search of the offender, who is known to them and was seen committing the violence.

HECKER'S MILLS .- The public exhibition of the Croton Steam Mills on Thursday was pleasant and instructive to a thousand or more ladies and gentlemen, who were on that occasion inducted into the mysteries of wheat-grinding. The mill is a very large one, employing about seventy men. The annual consumption of wheat is about 475,000 bushels oats, do. 45,000 do. . corn, do. 30,000 do. . from which are manufactured 65,000 bls. flour . 800,000 bs. farina 250,000 % , wheaten grits : 175,000 h, samp and hominy

The Croton Mills will be exclusively devoted this day to the members of the public press and their la dies. An elegant collation will be laid, and we hope the corps editorial will gratify the enterprising proprictors, Messrs. Hecker & Brother, by a tuil attend ance. Their liberality on like occasions gives guarantee of the quality of the entertainment.

Consecration .- We learn that Rev. Dr. Whitehouse will be consecrated Assistant Bishop of Illinois at St. George's Church, in this City, on 20th inst. AT THEM AGAIN .- The fast man of one of the evening papers is pitching into the omnibus drivers for the thousandth time, because they don't go their mile in ten minutes between South Ferry and the Park. If the annoved editor could induce the removal of pleasure carriages, carts, hand-barrows, building materials, ugly and obstinate teamsters, &c., from Broadway, and especially stop vehicles from crossing that abused street, he might reasonably expect to make it a race-course. But it aint so, and the blame is all thrown upon the omnibus drivers, although ninety-nine of a hundred of them are quite as anxious as the fast man of the evening paper to get along in good season. omnibus drivers must have shoulders as broad and as strong as their vehicles, if they are to bear all the sins heaped upon them by our neighbor of the querulous tone and the antiquated idea.

Koerner has been appointed Professor o' Drawing, to fill the place of Professor Duggan, dur ing that gentleman's absence in Europe.

CAN'T SAY .- A correspondent who sees no other hope for woman but through a new dress," writes to ask us why it is that gentlemen are so much more favorable to this "great and necessary reform" than ladies, and why they treat its wear ers with politeness while the gentler sex "set up a titter and in some cases make remarks which under any other circumstances would be considered insult-We confess our total inability to solve these problems, but hope our correspondent may ere long discover up somebody who can.

It numbers at present about sixty members, and promises to be one of the finest and best drilled military companies in our City. On Tuesday last they made their first annual target ex cursion to Jamaica, Long Island, and their appearance and order as they marched through the City would have done credit to many of our older military companies. They were accompanied by Shelton's Brass Bond, which has become deservedly popular among the military companies of New-York. Although the wind was rather unfavorable for good shooting, the target was well riddled. Whatever an-noyance might have been experienced on the ground was more than compensated for, however, by the excellent entertainment provided by Mr. Remsen, the keeper of the well-known Hotel at Jamaica. When the good things on the table were thoroughy discussed, the prizes were awarded to the following members of the Company First prize, Gold Watch Chain to private Rodgers; second prize, Musket, to First Lieut. FATHER MATHEW'S LAST PUBLIC AP-PEARANCE IN AMERICA .- Visit to the Hibernian Bevolent Burial Society.- The members of the Hibernian Benevolent-Burial Society met on Thursday night at Powers's Montgomery Hall, Prince-st. The meeting was called specially for the purpose of receiving a visit from the Apostle of Temperance, and the large room was in consequence swarmingly crowded. Mr. Thomas O'Brien, the General President of the Society, occupied the chair. He called the meeting to order at about So'clock, and desired them to select a Committee to wait on Father Ma thew, who was stopping at his Grace's, the Archbishop's, to tell him the Society were ready to receive him, and to conduct him to the place of meeting — Accordingly, three of the members were deputed to wait on the reverend gentiemen, who in a few minwait on the reverend gentiemen, who in a few min-utes afterward entered the room. He was intro-duced, on his ascending the platform, to the meeting by the President, and was most cordially and warm-ly received. The reverend gentiemen returned thanks for the manner of his reception, and said. "I am proud to meet so many of my countrymen, and it makes my heart glad to see you look so well, erderly and comfortable. You could not be thus comfortable in your own un ortunate country, at least if you had not been temperate, and if you knew, as I do, the degradation and misery that drink brings. as I do, the degradation and misery that drink brings on, such as I have witnessed in your City Prison, the Tombs, on the Island, and in Brooklyn, you would weep for the ruin strong drink has brought on so Tombs, on the Island, and in Brooklyn, you would weep for the ruin strong drink has brought on so many of our unfortunate countrymen. This strong drink brings more misery than you are aware of, for it leads to quarreling and fighting among yourselves, which, but for the intoxicating draft, would never occur. There is an association established in this City for the purpose of patiting an end to these insane quarrels, which is most congenial to my feelings and gives me great delight. I hope the men on the public works will listen to their teaching, and give up their insane feuds. That good and pious man, the Bishop of Buffalo, Dr. Timon, has been exerting himself greatly in this matter, and indeed most necessary it was that he should do so, for when I was at Buffalo two countrymen of ours were killed in one of those quarrels, and many severely injured, and by Irishmen, and on a Sunday toe. Asyour committee came to wait on me, I was writing, a letter to those deluded men, to be seech them to give up those evil practices, and not to continue to degrade themselves and disgrace the respectable and well-intentioned portion of their countrymen in this distant land. The Irish are spread over every portion of these United States, and I fear that so far is this evil of quarreling with each other diffused. Why should the natives of that small island quarrel among themselves I it is scarcely as large as the small-est of the States; and yet, in all this extent of country throughout the I inon, you will not hear of one American quarreling with another, because he is not of the same State, and, then, why should the Irishman quarrel withanother because he is not from the same Province, Country or Parish as himself! There is, I am sure, no quarreling among the Hiber-name Benevole at Burial Society, and there is no use Irishman quarrel with another because he is not from the same Province, County or Parish as himself. There is, I am sure, no quarreling among the Hibernian Benevoleal Burial Society, and there is no use in my speaking to you on this subject, but I speak for others and as I am about to leave you for my own beloved land, I leave this, as my last parting words. Let there be a brotherhood of love and friendship established among you, and let the name of Irishman be a bond of union between all the children of that oppressed land. I say my last words, for my advanced period of life does not give me room to hope that I shall ever see you again. And however I may desire to see how my inbors here may produce good fruit I fear we shall never neet again, until we do so, I trust, in a happier and better place. I must hasten to my native land—my duty calls me there, but, as for you, who are so happy in this great country, I know you will never return and that you may be comfortable and happy, is the nearest and cearest wish of my heart. Should God please to restore my health, and give me strength, I may yet be able to allevinte some of the missing of my destressed countryment, and I am never more happy than when promoting the virtue of temperance, and devoting my time and strength to endeavor to erase this only blot on our national character—"a passion for the excitement strong drink produces." Since I came here, I have administered the pledge to over this only blot on our national character—"a passion for the excitement strong drink produces." Since I came here, I have administered the pledge to over 500,000 persons, and with the biessing of God there are few of them who have been unfaithful. In Boston, I administered it in Fancuii Hall to over 2,000 persons, and the Right Reverend the Roman Catholic Bishop the other day informed me, that after close investigation, he could not discover that more than four were so bare as to break their faith before God and main. This spenks volumes for the fidelity with which the pledge has been kept. I am so accustomed to speak on temperance, that I find myself making a temperance speech, but temperance never did harm to any one, and the Apostie Paul tells us to be temperance, the reverend gentleman concluded amid be temperate in all things.

After some further remarks on the necessity of temperance, the reverend gentleman concluded amid the appliance of the necetities.

The President then addressed Father Mathew, and said, that he was deputed on the part of the H. B. B. S., to present him/with $250. It was all they were able to give at present, and he was indeed a shamed of offering so small a sum, but it was because of the shortness of the time since the matter was proposed. They had endeavored to do more. The Irish Directory had in their hands $500, which they had a desire to get back in order to present him with it, but it seems the Directory do not choose to touch this money, as it was given for a special object, and in the opinion of many carnot be used unless Ireland raises the standard of revolt.

Col revolt. Father Mathem: You need make no apology, gettlemen, for the smallness of your gift. I consider munificent, and accept it with much gratitude, at would be most sorry that any thought of me shout interfere to the inconvenience of any of my friend. The very reverend gentleman then administer the pledge to about 300 persons, and then went rout he room and gave each separately his blessin marking them at the same time on the forehead with a step of the cross.

marking them at the same time on the forehead with the sign of the cross.

He then returned to the platform, when the President again addressed him, and said that the Society intended to accompany him on Saturday, when he would be leaving, if he had no objection.

Father Mathew: I can have no objection on the contrary, I will be obliged and delighted, but I will stipulate for one thing, that no one will put himself to any inconvenience for the purpose of doing me honor. You have before falled my cup of grantude, but you have now caused it to overflow. After once more giving his blessing to the Society, he bid all, and each farewell, and left for the residence of the Archbishop.

Archbishop.
After his departure, it was arranged that the members of the Society should meet at 8 o'clock on Saturday morning, when she meeting broke up.

An inquest was yesterday held at the New-York Hospital upon the body of John Brophy, a native of Ireland, 38 years of age, whose death was caused by injuries received on Monday night by being run over while in Canal, near Greene-st., by one of Kipp & Brown's stages. A verdict of accidental death was rendered by the Jury, no blame being attached to the driver.

Yesterday morning as a citizen, named Joseph Young, was passing down West-st., near Murray, he was suddenly seized with a violent fit, and fell upon a sharp-edged curb-stone, cutting his head very severely. He was picked up by some passers by, and handed over to the Police of the Third Ward, who conveyed him to the City Hospital. Accident .- A man named William Conroy, while passing through 38th-st, when near av B, was struck upon the head by a brick which fell from a new building and seriously injured. He was conveyed to the N.Y. Hospital.

ANOTHER CASE OF FORGERY -A man of respectable appearance, about 38 years of age, calling himself Mr. Hays, was yesterday arrested at the Sank of America, in Wall-st., by officer Lynch of the First Ward, charged by Mr. Edwin S. Slenger, first teller of the Bank, with having presented to him, at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a forget check for $1,500, pernorting to have been drawn by Edw. King in favor of Wm. Henry King. Mr. S. en seeing the check immediately became satisfied that it was a forgery, and seeit for officer Lynch, who took Hays before Justice Osborne. On his way to the Police Office, he stated to the officer, that a few days ago he became accurated with a man who promised to get home a signature. quanted with a man who promised to get him a situation in some kind of business, and that before his interview closed with the stranger, the latter drew from his pocket this check and requested a loan of $200 upon it, saying that he might keep the check $200 upon it, saying that he might keep the check until Friday as security, at which time it would be payable at the bank; he could then cash it and receive the amount of his loan. The accused was locked up for examination.

BURGLARY .- The store of Mr. J. B. BURGLARY.—The store of Mr. J. B. Wright, flour merchant, of No. 9. South-st, was found yesterday morning, to have been entered by burglars. In the second story, six desks had been broken open, the locks having been bored out with large gimlets, such as are used for sampling flour. Nothing of much value was stolen. It is supposed that the rascals secreted themselves in the store during the day, as the door was found to have been opened from the inside.

ARREST OF RIOTERS .- Mr. George G. Davis, Inspector of the First Election District of the Nineteenth Ward, and others, yesterday appeared before Justice Osborne and preferred complaints against Duncan and John Stewart, charging them against Duncan and John Stewart, charging them with having been actively concerned in the destruction of the ballot-boxes of that District, which were seized by a garfy of rowdies and destroyed. On this occasion the lives of the Inspectors were threatened by the lawless gang, and were for some time in great jeopardy. The accused were taken into custody and committed to prison for examination.

AEREST FOR FORGERY.—A lad named Edward D Woodruff was on Thursday afternoon arrested on suspicion of forgery under the following circumstances. It appears that at that time he called at the Pacific Bank and presented a check for $500, purporting to be drawn by a person named W Latting, and made payable to a Mr. West. The Teiler, not liking the appearance of the signature, declined cashing the check, and on questioning the boy, the latter stated that he had received it from a man named West, who gave it to him to get cashed, while he was at the corner of West-Broadway and Canslet. Search was made for this man, but he could not be found. Mr. Buck, the Paying Teller of the Bank, thinks the signature of the check closely resembles that of Mr. W. Latting, merchant of Broadway, near Canal st. The boy Woodruff was handed over to the custody of officer Austin, of the Eighth Ward, and subsequently taken before Justice Osporne, who committed him to prison for examination. AEREST FOR FORGERY .- A lad named

Grand Largeny—Recovery of the Property—A few days since a young man entered the jeweiry store of Messrs. Fisher & Featherspoon, No. 23 Hudson-st., and asked to be shown a gold watch. While he was inspecting one that was shown him, another young man entered for the apparent purpose of buying some leads for his pencil case. A few moments after the last man entered, the one who was inspecting watches, rushed to the door with one worth about $40 in his hand and escaped into the street—the other spraig before the coor to prevent Mr. Fisher, who was the only one connected with the concern present, from pursuing him. When, however, Mr. F. got into the street, the thief had turned the corner of Broomest, and was out of sight. Mr. F. then setzed the other of the young men, who proved to be an accomplice with the hiner, and held him until officer Baldwin of the Jefferson Police Court was called in. The fellow was then taken before Justice McGrath and locked up for trial. He gave his name as Marshall McDonald, and after being a few hours in confinement he revealed the naive of his accomplice, who has not as yet been arrested. The officer spent the whole of vesterday in hunting him up and in ascertaining if the watch had been pawned, at what place it was pawned, and after visiting about twenty pawn shops, at list found it at Win. & J. Simpson's, No. 247 Grandset, where it had been pawned by the thief for $12. The watch was handed over to the omeer, and on showing it to Mr. Fisher he at once identified it. The thief will probably be caught in a few days. GRAND LARGENY-RECOVERY OF THE on showing it to Mr. Fisher he at once identified. The third will probably be caught in a few days

ARREST FOR LARCENY .- Two lads, named James Fitzgerald and James Coventry, were vester-day arrested charged with stealing six plated forks and a number of candlesticks from the show-case in front of the store of W.T. & T. V. Gendee, No. 228 Greenwich-st. They were taken before Justice Lothrop or examination
